Flowers should be brought to us ASAP in a piece of white paper, not in a plastic bag (the flowers need to breath or they will mold). The best way for the flowers to be preserved is freeze drying, however because it is so expensive the artist will dry them and then spray them with a translucent pigment. It is best that if the flowers are older that a photo of the flowers on the wedding day be brought in and sent to the artist so she can match the colors.

At least 10 flower petals of each color are required for each piece of jewelry.

- Thick flowers like Calla Lilly's do not work- cannot use
- Stargazer Lilly – use only 1 color pigment
- If the flower is dark red or purple- they will look black when completed

Allow 6-8 weeks for delivery of the finished product.

An additional $20 must be added to each piece for the petal preparation and shipping. This cost is on top of the jewelry price.
